To its right, a cluster of dark green, serrated leaves is shown. Further right, a large, textured green fruit, possibly a jackfruit, is depicted. Below this, on the right side, is a cross-section of a fruit showing its internal structure. In the bottom left, there's a large, detailed illustration of a fruit with a prominent stem and several large, dark green leaves. To its right, another cluster of dark green leaves is shown. In the bottom right, there's a large, textured green fruit, similar to the one in the top right, with several dark green leaves below it. The central text is overlaid on these illustrations.
