SOMMELIER’S SELECTION

Founded in 1859 , Louis Jadot has become a familiar name and is known for its commitment to producing high-quality wines. Despite being primarily known as a négociant, Louis Jadot also owns several prestigious vineyard sites. This allows them to craft wines reflective of the unique terroirs of their own vineyards, alongside their broader négociant offerings. Their dual approach combines the best of both worlds—estate-grown wines that showcase Burgundy’s distinct characteristics, while also sourcing high-quality grapes from other top growers to create a diverse portfolio.

The Château Latour estate is situated at the heart of the Medoc vineyards and benefits from an exceptional location. The Enclos, the heart of its estate, overlooks the estuary of the Gironde which over the centuries has brought its geographical complexity and its mild climate. Chateau Latour first appeared in the historical Froissard’s “ Chronicles” from 1378. Until the end of the 16th century, Latour was a co-seigneurie and the major history in wine started with Alexandre de Segur who became owner of Latour at the end of the 17th century. The wines of the estate very quickly dominated thanks to their quality and today under the impetus of Francois Pinault, owner of the estate since 1993, the men and women who work here, are devoted to a permanent quest for excellence enabling them to continue producing one of the world’s greatest red wines.
